June 2022 Monthly Revenue Report

Zhen Ding Technology Holding Limited (Ticker: 4958), a leading global PCB manufacturer, today reported June 2022 revenue of NT$12.64 billion, up 22.68% YoY and up 9.39% MoM. For 2Q22, consolidated revenue reached NT$34.53 billion, up 16.01% YoY and up 1.83% QoQ. For the first half of 2022, cumulative revenue reached NT$68.45 billion, up 20.17% YoY – all reaching record highs in company’s history. According to Zhen Ding, benefiting from the diversification under the One ZDT strategy, the company has maintained solid revenue growth in a traditionally slower season. Specifically, driven by the continued momentum in the shipments of Computers and Consumer Electronics products as well as IC substrates, the company's revenue performance was in line with its previous expectations.

According to Zhen Ding, despite facing many macro uncertainties including inflation, the company remains positive on business operations, as the industry enters the traditional stronger season in the second half of the year, together with the new capacity of the new BT fab in Qinhuangdao coming online in August this year. Based on current customer orders, Zhen Ding expects that revenue from all applications in the second half of the year, including Mobile Communication, Computers and Consumer Electronics, IC Substrate, and Automotive/Base Station/Server, will be significantly higher than that of the first half. Overall, Zhen Ding remains confident to achieve double-digit growth in both revenue and net income in 2022.
