December 2023 Monthly Revenue Report

Zhen Ding Technology Holding Limited (Ticker: 4958), a global leading PCB manufacturer, today reported December 2023 revenue of NT$14,842 million, down 11.08% YoY.

Revenue for the fourth quarter of 2023 was NT$54,556 million, up 3.13% YoY and up 30.14% QoQ. For the full year of 2023, cumulative revenue reached NT$151,557 million, down 11.55% YoY, in line with the company's previous expectation.

According to Zhen Ding, as the peak season for customers' new product preparation has passed, December revenue declined MoM, which is consistent with historical seasonal trends. Overall, the company's fourth quarter revenue increased by over 30% QoQ, reaching a quarterly peak for the whole year, and resumed YoY growth. Its revenue for Mobile Communication, Automotive/Base Station/Server, and IC Substrates all delivered double digit QoQ and YoY growth. In particular, the fourth quarter revenue for IC Substrates increased by over 60% YoY, indicating that a gradual recovery in the BT substrate business has continued. Zhen Ding mentioned that, while it will continue monitoring the magnitude of recovery for consumer demand and geopolitical uncertainty, the company anticipates a modest recovery in 2024 on top of a low base, as the supply chain inventory has gradually returned to healthy levels.
