

Zhen Ding Technology Holding Limited (4958 TT)

November 2024 Monthly Revenue Report

Zhen Ding Technology Holding Limited (Ticker: 4958), a global leading PCB manufacturer, today reported November 2024 revenue of NT$19,434 million, up 3.15% YoY, reaching the second highest for the same period in the company's history. For January through November 2024, cumulative revenue reached NT$155,918 million, up 14.05% YoY, setting a record high for the same period.

According to Zhen Ding, November revenue continued to deliver YoY growth, mainly driven by the steady growth of non-Mobile Communications applications. Revenue for Computers and Consumer Electronics delivered double-digit YoY growth, while revenue for IC Substrates and Automotive/Server/Base Station both achieved record highs for the same period in the company's history. Overall, Zhen Ding still expects its performance in the fourth quarter to reach the peak of the year, with full-year performance surpassing last year. In addition, driven by multiple product upgrades and new order wins, the company is expected to achieve record-breaking operational performance next year.
