

Zhen Ding's COO D J Lee Featured on PanSci Live Stream, Delving into PCB's Core Value and Future Strategy

On July 22, 2025, D J Lee, Chief Operating Officer of Zhen Ding Technology Group, was invited to participate in PanSci's live program Thought Lab. Together with Terry Tsao, Global Chief Marketing Officer and President of SEMI Taiwan, they engaged in an in-depth discussion on the theme "Semiconductors: Taiwan's Unseen Battlefield." From an industry authority's perspective, COO Lee analyzed the critical value of PCBs (Printed Circuit Boards) as the "central nervous system" of electronics, sharing Zhen Ding's practices and strategic insights in technological innovation, global supply chain deployment, and addressing industry challenges. At the conclusion of the session, COO Lee invited the public to attend the upcoming SEMICON Taiwan 2025 (Sep 10~12), where Zhen Ding will showcase cutting-edge technological achievements, offering a close-up look at how PCB innovations drive future technological transformation.

As a global leader in the PCB industry, Zhen Ding consistently pushes technological boundaries through innovation while supporting worldwide electronics development with resilient strategies. This live stream not only highlighted PCB's role as the "central nervous system" of electronics but also underscored its pivotal position within the semiconductor supply chain.
